New arrangements have been made for the noon dances which are held every Tuesday noon in the small gym immediately after the assemblies.

Various organizations of the campus are to act as hosts and hostesses. The dance will be run off in a more formal manner and the hosts and hostesses will act as a committee to prepare for records and refreshments.

Negotations have been dropped in regard to the building of the new pub lic address system, according to the executive board. The plans were that the American Assocationof Engineers would build the new unit but the belief of the board is that the one which Walter Carruthers has had at the dances does very well for the present time and that the action of a new one for the school will be dropped until a later date.

The prices of the noon-dances have cents. Tickets are now available at Compton district. the price of 3 noon-dances for 25 Goodfellow, vice-president of the associated student body. These tickets are on sale at the auditor's office or may be secured from members

Gene Halls Is Sent As Emissary To Fullerton J. C.

Gene Hall, president of Associated students, has been sent as an emissary to Fullerton junior college that an agreement might be made to the effect that whoever won the Thanksgiving game would have control of the gridiron afterward to do what ever they wished with it.

Mr. Hall was sent through an action of the executive board at its last meeting, and the step was taken due to the unfortunate incident that occurred at the Santa Ana-Fullerton high school game.

Las Gitanas Plan Christmas Events

Plans for giving a Christmas party and for sponsoring the Tuesday noon dance were made at the formal initiation held by Las Gitanas last Monday evening at the home of Miss Pauline Welles, 2020 Victoria Drive.

Scheduled for the next meeting, December 5, the Christmas party will be held at the Y. W. C. A. rooms with each member bringing a guest. ORANGE CLUB IS SCENE OF LADIES BALL

Music Will Be Furnished By Billy Hager's Orchestra Thanksgiving Evening

Billy Hager's nine piece orchestra has been secured for the A. W. S. program dance which will begin at 9 o' clock Thanksgiving evening in the Orange Women's club house. The dance will be semi-formal.

All decoratinos will aim at carrying out a Thanksgiving Motive as planned by the Las Meninas and Spinster Service clubs. Tickets may be secured from any member of the Las Gitanas service club as well as from the Misses Kay Bement, Helen Bower and Betty Palmiter and they may also may be purchased at the dance. Refreshments have ben planned by the Moavs, and punch and waffers will be served Arrangements have been made for special numbers to be played by the Hager orchestra and an enjoyable evening is assured, states Miss Palmiter.

The committee in charge of the decorations consists of the Misses Alline Buck, Ruth Crowl, Catherine Stine, Priscilla Adams and Katherine Sumner. Carolyn Mueller is chairman of the refreshment committee.

Contrary to the usual custom of past years, the Santa Ana Junior College will not have a union dance with Fullerton jaysee after the annual Thanksgiving game which is to be held in Fullerton tomorrow afternoon. As the "Ladies Choice" is to be held on a holiday the sponsors are expecting a good attendance at the affair.

Sigma Tau Epislon Not Favored Here

Following an interview with the advisors of the literary groups on the campus, it is evident that present financial conditions and an already sufficient number of literary clubs may be the deciding factors against the establishment here of a Zeta chapter of Sigma Tau Epsilon, honorary journalism fraternity.

Jaysee Quartet

Pardon us if we boast, but we have here on the campus one very energetic group of men who seem to be going over in a big way not only in Santa Ana but also in nearby towns. This group consists of Marquise Hare, Martin Bowman, Bill Fox, and Rutherford Williams, and together they form a very tune-

Congratulations to these four fellows. They are doing a lot for the school, and it is time to let them know they are appreciated. They sing under the name of the Junior College Quartet, and that title means good advertising for jaysee.

The proof that the quartet is making progress, is shown by the increasing demand for their services. Persons who are not liked are not asked to call again, but the quartet happens to be just the opposite sort; each appearance brings in more requests for their services.

It takes time, plenty of practice, and a large amount of ability to put on a program, yet the quartet has not yet turned down one invitation. Such activity sets a pretty good example for the rest of us, so why not give these lusty singers a pat on the back and a sincere vote of "thanks"

Be Thankful!

"In small proportions we just beauties see, And in short measures life may perfect be." Ben Jonson

It is Thanksgiving time again, and just the right time to think about those blessed small proportions of our existence that makes us so gosh dern happy and if one may add-thankful.

What was it yesterday that gave you a thrill. Maybe it was just the fact that you received but two deficiency notices when you expected three. Maybe you fixed that date with your best girl. Maybe an exam was called off. Maybe you were lucky enough to get the family car for the trip up to the football game. Maybe the coach said your blocking was much better. Maybe that tall blue-eyed fellow finally spoke to you. Maybe that new dress had just the right fit. Maybe you got a B when a C was the most you hoped for. Maybe you played a smash bang game of tennis. Maybe someone did your homework for you. Maybe you found that article you were sure you would never see again. Or maybee it was just one of those all arround good days. Anyhow, sometime tomorrow, in between the turkey, dressing, and cranberries, why not wink an eye, shake hands with yourself or some think, and agree that you

Unfortunate But True

Thanksgiving Day has lost its meaning. Material things such as turkey meat, cranberries, and sweets clutter up the minds of individuals weeks previous to this once-sacred Thurs-

Thanksgiving means no more than a blessed two-day vacation from school. Arising at six a.m. is forgotten. Bridge, dancing, and motor trips form the maelstrom into which the true spirit sinks into oblivion.

Colleges have taken advantage of this holiday to bring in the sheckels. Thanksgiving football scraps bring the best box office receipts of the year.

Even the American home is sadly inefficient. The trim gas or electric heater is substituting for the blazing fire in the open hearth. Roasting chestnuts and marshmallows is passe; popping popcorn—is practically extinct.

Instead of the early morning services in church, jazz, filtering from the radio, entertains the drug store "Puritans" reclining thankfully in bed. The theater, parties, or a carouse features the evening's entertainment. And why? Well, it's just another holiday.

Sadly enough, Thanksgiving is only in books.

DOINGS OF DONS

Tomorrow is the day; Fullerton is the place—where all Dons and their Donas should be. All other engagements ought to be cancelled for this, the biggest, fight of the year for either school, and to say fight is putting it lightly, it'll be an anihilation. Those eleven boys from Santa Ana will be doing their utmost to put the proverbial hooks in the eleven repre entatives of Fullerton.

According to statistics the Yellow jackets hold the betting odds, but Coach Cook's gang are not "softies" in any man's league. Upset? You bet there'll be an upset, the Dons are going to take them!!!

Horrible visions of his not being present to lead yells at the Fullerton game flashed before his mind. He was too young to die. Music and the dance hold the spot light this week with the new season getting well under way.

STUDENT COMMENT

(To the editor of El Don):

It is to be hoped that your editorial in last edition advocating the formation of an R. O. T. C. unit in Santa Ana jaysee expresses neither the attitude of the student body nor the policy of the paper. The flashy uniforms of the R. O. T. C. is merely an attempt to glorify war and make it popular.

Modern warfare is contrary to the laws of God and nature . "God is love," but war is based on hatred in its worst form. Evolutionary processes work for the survival of the fittest while modern warfare takes the cream of the race and submits to to the gasses and shrapnel which snuff out the life of the athlete as well as that of the weakling.

There are some who attempt to justify the R. O. T. C. and other forms of war preparation by saying that it is necessary for national protection. On the other hand, history shows that armaments make war possible and have always hastened its declaration.

Let us hope that the sacred grounds of our institution shall never be desecrated by any attempt to glorify a primeval act of brutality made diseasterous to civilization with the assistance of modern machinery.

A man is a man but a soldier on the battle fiend is a beast. Why encourage war with the formation of a local R. O. T. C. unit?

Respectfully. Robert L. Clingan

HOWL IN THE NIGHT

A low wail swelled out in to the night, then came to a trembling stop. A muffled splash sounded from the dark lake. He was out of his bunk in one startled leap. Darn that fool guide! He would leave him to spend a night alone in a shack twenty miles from anywhere. True, the guide had sworn there was nothing more dangerous than a few squirrels in the country. Well, he'd better go back to bed. Maybe he had dreamed of that sobbing cry. Then his throat constricted with sudden fear. A shriek of son had never uttered a single word crazy laughter sprang from outside the shack, then silence beat in at him. broken only by the brushing sigh of the pines. He half ran to the fireplace and piled wood on the red coals. He lit two lamps and then sat on the edge of the bunk with his gun on his knees. Fits of trembling seized him and he saw in his mind's eye his wife and children when they should hear earth inheritors , are poor. Why? that he is; they may not know all of of his being trapped in a hut in the woods by a madman. He strained his ears for unusual sounds. The thing chucked repeatedly, then the wail

Someone touched his shoulder. His guide stood over him. Sunlight was pouring in the windows. As he stretched his stiff arms, he caught sight of the smoking lamps on the chimney-piece and everything came back to him. He swallowed. The guide was talking.

"Loons shore whooped 'er up las night, didn't they?" he said idly.

Mrs. Robert Northcross, formerly Miss Eleanor Hammack, attended the University of California at Berkeley. She spent four years of regular college preparatory work and one year of graduate work. Among other activities she joined Delta Delta Delta. At the end of her fifth year she received her A. B. degree and went into teaching. For four years Eleanor Hammack taught in Hollywood high school before finally consenting to become Mrs. Robert Northcross She was married in 1909 and, for eleven years, gave up her career as a teacher. During that time Mrs. Northcross traveled extensively in the United States and Europe besides writing many essays, verse, and short stories under an assumed name. During the war she resumed teaching. Her husband, Mr. Crowell Northcross, was ill for some time. He regained his health, but in 1927 he passed away leaving his wife and son, Robert. Mrs. Northcross has taught in the English department of the Santa Ana junior college ever since. She is invaluable to us as Dean of Women and is a friend to all.

San Diego is still a threat in the Coast League Prep struggle by virtue of their win over the Glendale Dynamiters last Saturday. Unable to gain consistently on running plays, Santa Ana's Dons took to the air long enough in the final quarter to chalk up a touchdown and come from behind to defeat their non-conference foe, Urban Military Academy, 6-2 in a night battle last Friday night at the Municipal Bowl. Porky Bell tossed a short pass to Groenow for the local score. A blocked punt during the second quarter resulted in Urban's two points.

Dons March Taking the ball on their own 35yard stripe at the start of the fourth quarter, Santa Ana engineered a 65 yard march across the enemy's goal line. Mixing short bullet passes to Higashi and Harris with powerful line thrusts by Bell and Smith, the Dons marched to Urban's 15 yard marker. In three stabs at the line Santa Ana gained four yards. On fourth down Porky Bell faded back to his 20 yard line and whipped a perfect pass into the waiting arms of Tobs Groenow, lanky Don wingman, for the winning points. Higashi's attempted drop-kick was smothered to

J.C. CO-EDS TO CONCLUDE TENNIS PLAY

Tedford, Miller, Rugg Will Play For Single Title As Season Closes

Tennis balls continue to fly across the nets as the women racqueteers strive for a place in the finals.

Singles honors for W. A. A. credit rest between Dorothy Tedford, Francis Miller, and Virginia Rugg. Miller and Rugg will play off, and the winner will play Tedford. Those who went down to defeat in the first racket matches were Francis Curl Helen Mott, Katherine Bememt, and Mary Helen Bell. Ruth Dunn and Virginia Gabriel were defeated in their second match games.

In the doubles games, the winners of the Harper and Walker, Gabriel and Rugg, match will play off the high scorers in the Rurup and high scorers in the Rurup and Rurup, Wakeham and Palmiter, pair Big Aggregation off for births in the final game.

Singles for women not in W. A. A. have not progressed as rapidly as the other two tournaments, but in the results so far posted, Lorna Allen, by defeating Olive VanMeter and Jean Berry, has gained for herself a place in the final match. Just who the other contestant for the tournament honors will be, depends on the outcome of at least four more matches.

Tryouts have begun for the women ennis players who will represent aysee at the Compton playday. Five women are out for the singles including Miller, Rugg, Bell, Wakeham, and Palmiter. Either the Rurup twins or Dunn and Gabriel will comprise the doubles team.

OLD RIVALRY TO PROMOTE FAST BATTLE

Cook Will Use Everything Left In Bag To Beat Fullerton Hornets

Minus the services of Captain Jack Fredericks and Harold Welty, Coach Cook will journey with his Don squad to Fullerton tomorrow for the annual Turkey Day classic with the Yellowjackets. This game will be the 8th of a series of bitterly contested battles the first of which occurred in 1925 when the Dons won 14 to 0. Santa Ana has emerged victorious four times and succumbed to the stings of the Hornets three times. One game resulted in a tie. Last year Fullerton trounced the Dons 19 to 12 after demoralizing them by scoring a touchdown on the opening kick-off. It is almost needless to say that the Dons are seeking re-

At present both teams are occupying middle rungs on the conference ladder and a win by either team would not appreciably affect league standings. A win by Fullerton would put them in third place and tied for second if Chaffey knocks over Riverside, while a win by Santa Ana would put them tied for the third spot. Nevertheless, both teams can be expected to fight as if for the championship.

Fullerton possesses a light, scrappy team with several real stars on it. In "Elmer the Great" Pryor and Pomeroy Coach Nunn has two quarterbacks who would warm the heart of any coach. Fullerton fans say it is a toss-up between them. Pryor has been doing most of the starting and will probably be in the opening line up against the Dons. One linesman stands out on the Hornet squad. He is Carpenter, an end with an uncanny ability to snag passes. Varner fullback, is a hard hitting boy who plays smart defensive ball.

Notwithstanding the fact that Urban was a hard nut to crack, Santa Ana suffered no serous injuries that will not be healed by Thursday.

Dick Heffern is filling admirably the vacancy caused by Jack Frederick's injury. Heffern received a slight bruise on his shoulder in the Urban fracas, but Coach Cook plans to use him Thursday believing that a six day rest ought to heal the injured member. If Bill Bouldin's ankle, which he hurt during last week's practice, is not in the best of shape 'Porky" Bell will be moved to Quarterback and Paul Jungkeit will

The lightweight teams could play the curtain raisers to the varsity football and basketball games. Three year men in the school could act as coaches, which would give the student coaches excellent training for future work. At the same time all who would be connected with the teams would be benefitted. Las Meninas Has Formal Initiation

Final initiation for Las Meninas pledges was held last Monday evening at the Doris-Kathryn Tea Shop. In the afternoon, the pledges were hostesses to the faculty at a three o'clock tea in the Y. W. C. A. Hut.

At the formal initiation, decorations were in purple and gold, combination place-cards and tallies were at each place, and yellow tapers furnished the lighting. After the threecourse dinner, every pledge was given a yellow rose. When each had taken the Las Meninas oath, all roses were placed in a central vase, the roses symbolizing each individual and the final bouquet the movement of the Hugh Mazdon Will club as a whole. When the ceremony was over, bridge was played at five tables.

Members present were Misses Bon nie Kiser, Norma Wilson, Shirley Day, Helen Bower, Verna Helm, Lorna Allen, Esther Romoff, and Ruth Collins. Girls pledged were Misses Kathleen Holmes, Irma Seamans, Barbara Thompson, Louise Newcomb, Ruth Dunn, Aline Buck, Mabel Peoples, Mary Helen Bell, Dorothy Tedford, Betty Whitney, Lenora Walker, Ruth Crowl and Marion Leihy.

In the afternoon, tea was served for an hour to the faculty. The Y hut was darkened, tapers being used for lighting. Ruth Dunn and Alline Buck poured tea. Other pledges received tea, open-faced cheese-sandwiches, and mints were served.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. lov. 23 (CNS)—Stanford University's famous axe, now securely looked in a bank vault after being recovered from the University of California two years ago, will become a permanent trophy for the winner of the annual "big game" between the two schools

Such was the announcement made this week by Stanford student officers, who said the first award of the trophy would be made in 1933.

The Stanford axe tradition goes pack to 1899, when it became the symbol of heated rivalry between Stanford and "Cal." It was stolen, however, a few days after the yearly football tussle, and was closely guarded by California students for 31 years—until April 4, 1930, when a special Stanford expedition overcame an armored car escort with the aid of a tear gas bomb and recovered the

Cosmic Rays Start In Stratosphere

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 23 (CN S)-Cosmic rays, instead of originating in inter-stellar space, probably come from the earth's own stratosphere. Dr. Arthur E. Compton, University of Chicago physicist, last week told the National Academy of Sci-

In a summar of the results of the experiments, conducted in various parts of the world and at different altitudes during the past year, he again took issue with the theory of Dr. Robert A. Millikan, head of the California Institute of Technology, who believes cosmic rays signal the creation of matter in outer space.

"It seems very difficult to reconcile with our data any of the alternative hypotheses that have been suggested," he said.

He added, however, that cosmic rays do not have some important message for scientists, but what that message may be has not yet been established, although it is possible that they are bringing news of the innnermost structure of the atomic nucieus.

Regions which produce the aurora borealis may also be the birthplace of cosmic rays, Dt. Compton's findings indicated.

Dr. Compton said that his observations of the intensity and nature of the rays, which he believes to be made up of particles, rather than light waves, indicate that they originate some hundreds of miles above the surface of the earth in in the upper stratosphere.

Glenn Featured In Junior Ebell Meet

Thomas H. Glenn, head of the English department, pictured the French capital as it appeared to him during his recent tour and study of the College Instructor European country, when he spoke before the Junior Ebell club of Santa Ana recently. Discussing all phases of life and ctivities in the "international city", Mr. Glenn particularly cited that Paris is a cosmopolitan city, its popuation being composed of all the nations of the world, and at the same time, against the general belief, stating that there is a "serious side" to the French capital. He cited in particular, the application of Paris students to studies as compared to the students of this country.

Mr. Glenn has presented many lectures on his experiences about his sojourn in Europe. The discussion was held at the home of Mrs. Lynn H. Crawford, wife of the boys adviser of the Santa Ana high school

Sports 39 Percent Of Space In Papers

NEW YORK, Nov. 16 (CNS) Sports occupy 39 per cent of the space given by 100 leading newspapers in the country to college news, according to results of a survey announced this week by A. C. Marts, president of Marts and Lundy, Inc., councellors in college finance and publicity.

Pictures depicting college news vents, he said, are 24.2 per cent of the total space, while general news eceives 11.75 per cent.

While college scandals receive approximately 2.4 per cent of the space, contrary to popular belief, editors are inclined to "play down" this type of news, according to his findngs. What scandal stories were found, he said, appeared mainly in local newspapers, and usually did not gain widespread publicity.
